

I am a researcher and development specialist in southern Illinois. It would be helpful to have the 3650-3700 MHz band open to unlicensed access in order to allow the development and deployment of wireless internet technologies to rural and low-income areas that commercial providers are finding hard to cover. Please don't put up unnecessary barriers that would put the U.S. even further behind other countries in advanced information technology deployment.

Thank you!